

A Great Option for Substance Use Treatment

BY MATTHEW DHERBES

Intensive outpatient treatment is a great option for individuals struggling with substance use disorders, including fentanyl addiction. IOP provides a more flexible treatment option, allowing individuals to continue working or going to school while receiving treatment.

Arise Recovery Centers' IOP programs are designed to provide a personalized treatment plan that addresses each individual's unique needs. Our programs include individual and group therapy, medication-assisted resources, and aftercare support.

Our experienced team of professionals understands the complex nature of addiction and the dangers of accidental fentanyl overdose. Our goal is to provide a safe, supportive, and non-judgmental environment for individuals seeking treatment.

The fentanyl overdose epidemic is a public health crisis that requires immediate attention. Intensive outpatient treatment is a great option for individuals seeking treatment for substance use disorders, protecting people from accidental fentanyl overdoses. Our programs provide a personalized approach to treatment that addresses each individual's unique needs, and our experienced team of professionals is dedicated to providing ongoing support throughout the recovery process. If you or someone you know is struggling with substance use, contact Arise Recovery Centers today to learn more about our IOP programs.
